Dear Valued Customers and Partners:

As the COVID-19 pandemic continues to escalate, Ecore’s mission of making people’s lives better combined with our core company value of compassion continue to drive our decisions and behavior.

While practicing social distancing and strict guidance from local, state and federal authorities, Ecore will remain open to deliver surfaces critical in supporting both the U.S. transportation and healthcare industries, including:

- Ecore’s Transmat load securement materials, which are required for the safe shipment of critical goods, such as paper, food, beverages, metal and healthcare items essential to supporting everyone’s basic needs; and
- Ecore’s specialty flooring, which provides surfaces for hospitals and healthcare facilities as our healthcare system works to bolster its facilities to address the pandemic.

While keeping the health and safety of our employees, customers and community as an overwhelming priority, we stand ready to service the immediate needs of our customers and providers, and we’ll continue to do so as we navigate these challenging times – together.

Sincerely,

Arthur Dodge, III
President & CEO
